Tina Robbins

I made this baby blanket for a gentleman that is a Red Wings fan.

Karen Beers

I made 6 Easter table runners of various lengths for my “daughters” including 1 for myself. The pattern from Cut Loose Press is called All Squared Up Table Runner and is great for showing off a feature fabric. I used my embroidery machine to quilt the edge-to-edge Easter egg design, a new technique for me.

Amy Richardson

The green bird quilt is my own design made with donated and stash fabrics. Pieced and quilted by me. It was given to my son's girlfriend.

The large square outdoor themed quilt was made with fabric from my stash. I used a flannel sheet for the back. Pieced and quilted by me. Given to a young friend that hunts and fishes with my boyfriend.

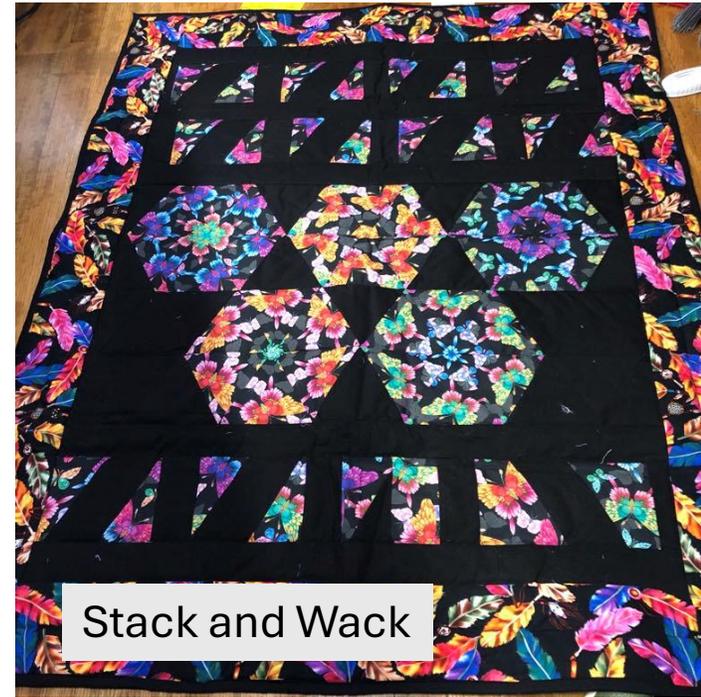

Linda Mumby

Coda coat made from a comforter I got at Goodwill. Turned out nice and fits well.

Cardinal Hour miniature quilt made since I've been down south. It turned out well but not sure I want to do anymore miniatures. 13x13

The 4 Patch Fun is for the Veterans group and the Stack
and Wack is for the Soar shelter.

Here is a baby quilt that I have been working on. I just need to do the quilting and the binding. The shower is Sunday.

Dawn Fowler

I was able to finish a quilt for my niece in purple before Christmas. Pattern is Hidden Wells.

I also finished a couple more months on a woolie project. I finally finished an appliance cover that my daughter has been wanting.

Dear Jane quilt is still in progress. Block G-6 was a buggger!

I loved the springtime look and the fabrics.

Tina Sanford

The bags are Stitch and Go bags from Sew Yeah Quilting and they are waterproof canvas. You just cut them out and sew together. There is no pattern, but they have a QR code with a video tutorial to show you how to make them. There are a ton of designs. They have their own machine and make them in house.
